

Greetings From The President

by Warren D. Lichty

It is a great pleasure for me to announce that another of our Members has stepped up to the plate and become truly active in support of the memory of George Washington, the Mason, supporting this magnificent building which Masons of the United States erected to memorialize him. The Grand Jurisdiction of Kansas, at its last Grand Lodge Session, voted to enact a fifty-cent per-capita annual contribution to the George Washington Masonic Memorial Association.

We are so grateful to the Grand Lodge of Kansas. I wish to personally thank M.W. Glenn E. Kohr since it was during his Grand Lodge Session that the action was taken. His leadership, together with that of M.W. Robert L. Tomlinson, Jr., the current Grand Master of Kansas, made this happen. Credit should also go to the other Grand Lodge Officers who were instrumental in bringing this per-capita contribution to fruition. Dedicated leaders such as these bring progress in Masonry.

I am also pleased to announce the appointment of M.W. Roger A. Simmons, Past Grand Master of Alabama and a current member of our Board of Directors as a member of the Executive Committee. Roger is a sincere and dedicated Mason who will bring us great representation from the South. Welcome aboard, Roger.

The Annual Meeting of the Association was held in Minneapolis on February 17, 2003. All agenda items were covered in the allotted time. We are truly grateful for the many annual contributions from Grand Lodges and Appendant Bodies which we received following the Meeting. We received a nice contribution from one Grand Lodge which had not been contributing in the past, and we thank them for it.

There was something new at the Annual Meeting. For the first time, the Association was requested to do a break-out session by the Conference. The presentation was prepared and presented by M.W. Michael D. Brumback, Second Vice President of the Association. Mike did a great job. The presentation was well attended and well received, and outlined a long-term view of the finances of the Association.

I was in Alexandria in February to participate in two wreath laying ceremonies in memory of George Washington, one on the morning of the 22nd, at Washington's tomb at Mt. Vernon, followed by a reception at Collingwood, the Headquarters of the National Sojourners. The other ceremony was the next afternoon on the 23rd in Memorial Hall. The Mayor of Alexandria, several members of the City Council, other civic officials and the Grand Masters of the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia were present and participated.

The process of renovating the George Washington Museum in the Memorial is progressing very well. Our designer, Chris White, is finishing up the final plans and we expect to award a contract soon, and to have the work completed in August. We are very grateful to the Supreme Councils of the Northern and Southern Jurisdictions of the Scottish Rite for their continuing support of this project.

As we move into the slower times of Summer, please don't forget about supporting your Memorial. Your continued support is needed to keep Washington's vision and legacy alive for all time.

Grand Lodge Month Program

January 2003 was The Grand Lodge of Nevada Month at the Memorial. Grand Master, M.W. Rodger W. Denn, led a delegation of Brethren from Nevada including R.W. H. Wayne Kingsley, Deputy Grand Master; M.W. Arthur K. Cronin, PGM, Grand Secretary; W. James G. Kelley, Junior Grand Deacon and wife Karen; M.W. David J. Morgan, PGM and S.G.I.G. in Nevada; W. Lewis E. "Red" Kittell, State Chairman; W. David Love and wife Jean; W. Jacques L. Yammine; W. Charles F. Steiner and W. Robert K. Schmitt. An excellent exhibit featuring the history and activities of Nevada Masonry was unveiled in Assembly Hall. The Grand Master opened a session of the Grand Lodge of Nevada in the Memorial, which was followed by an extensive tour of the Memorial and the raising of the Nevada State Flag in front of the Memorial. The Nevada Brethren toured historic Alexandria, Virginia, Mount Vernon, the House of the Temple and the many historic, cultural and government sites in Washington, D.C. Brothers Denn, Kinglsey, Steiner, Yammine and Kittell all made contributions and became Gold Master Members of the Memorial during the visit. The visitors also contributed $550 to cover the rental of the van used during their visit. Grand Master Denn continues to distribute Memorial Holiday Ornaments to the Masons of Nevada and has contributed more than $1,500 to the Memorial through this program. The Brethren of Nevada voted to double their per-capita contribution to the Memorial during their last Grand Lodge Session. We truly appreciate the work, enthusiasm and support from these fine Masons.

Grand Master Rodger W. Denn and the Nevada Delegation

February was The Grand Lodge of Nebraska Month. The Grand Lodge sent an outstanding display featuring the history of Masonry in Nebraska including artifacts, documents, photographs, awards and regalia. The display was unveiled by M.W. Warren D. Lichty, PGM and President of the Memorial Association.

March was The Grand Lodge of Colorado Month. April was The Grand Lodge of North Dakota Month. Grand Master Alan L. Malm accompanied by his wife Nancy, daughters Kelsey and Lindsey, Deputy Grand Master William A. "Del" Alvord accompanied by his wife Joan and PGM and Grand Secretary Curtiss Mundahl unveiled a truly professional and well-done display featuring the history, activities and spirit of Freemasonry in North Dakota. George D. Seghers

I am very pleased to report that two years ago we had one Grand Lodge double the amount of their annual per-capita contribution to the Memorial. Last year we had two Grand Lodges enact per-capita contributions and one Grand Lodge double their per-capita. This year we have already had one Grand Lodge, Kansas, enact a fifty-cent per-capita for the Memorial. President Lichty and the Members of the Executive Committee have developed, presented to the membership and are implementing a financial plan for the Memorial, based on per-capita contributions that will result in the long term financial security of the Memorial. The key to the success of this program is the participation of the membership. The membership is the Grand Lodges. The Grand Lodges are the individual Masons, who are the members and owners of the Memorial. The membership erected the Memorial and is responsible for the continuation of the only National Masonic Memorial to George Washington in this nation. A per-capita contribution insures the participation, involvement and contribution by the individual members. This is the most fair and equitable means of providing the funds necessary for the operation of your Memorial.

In a recent speech at Mount Vernon, David McCullough stated, "If there had been no George Washington, it's doubtful that there would have been a lasting victory for the new United States. The country would not have lasted eight to 10 years." I would go farther and state that without George Washington we would have no United States. His character is indelibly stamped on this nation. His strength and perseverance inspired and motivated the Continental Forces and resulted in the victory at Yorktown. His presence and wisdom were pivotal in the success of the Continental Congress and the drafting and acceptance of our Constitution. His beliefs and actions shaped the Office of the Presidency. His character was shaped and influenced by the teachings and tenets of Freemasonry. Freemasonry gave symbolic, ritualistic and ceremonial form to not only his Inauguration ceremony as the first President of the new nation, but also to the extremely important and very public Masonic Cornerstone Laying ceremony of the Capital of the new nation in 1793.

In his farewell address, dated September 19, 1796, Washington wrote, "...Citizens by birth or choice, of a common country, that country has a right to concentrate your affections. The name of AMERICAN, which belongs to you, in your national capacity, must always exalt the just pride of Patriotism, more than any appellation derived from local discriminations. With slight shades of difference, you have the same Religion, Manners, Habits and political Principles. You have in a common cause fought and triumphed together. The independence and liberty you possess are the work of joint councils, and joint efforts; of common dangers, sufferings and successes."

These words are as true today as they were in 1796. We must forget our petty differences and we must work together as a nation and as Freemasons. It is our duty as Freemasons and as Americans to insure that this wonderful Memorial stands forever as a tribute to the one man who gave more and did more for the founding of this great nation than any other, the Father of our Country, our First President and Foremost Freemason, Brother George Washington.

Washington and Freemasonry

by James Parrish Hodges

The United States Senate, shortly after Washington's death, issued this official statement: "Let his countrymen consecrate the memory of the Heroic General, the Patriotic Statesman and the Virtuous Sage. Let them teach their children never to forget that the fruits of his labor and example are their inheritance."

We as Master Masons are even further compelled to honor and to emulate our dear departed Brother. The ideals of Masonry, which attracted him to the craft, had a profound impact on his life. His exposure to Masonic philosophy helped frame his ideas of life, both personal and professional. He took its teachings seriously, its apron and trowel, all its symbolism and ritual. Eventually he would become the best known and respected Mason in America. He would bring to the Fraternity unparalleled dignity and prestige.

Several incidents from his illustrious career indicate the degree to which the Masonic principles of leadership, service to man, integrity, honesty, virtue and resolve shaped his life and influenced others. On December 4, 1799 in Morristown, New Jersey, a Masonic convention was held with more than 100 Masons from various lodges in attendance. The establishment of a United Grand Lodge was proposed with George Washington as Grand Master. The idea was rejected by the spirit of localism from a number of regional Grand Lodges. Their action paralleled the earlier rejection of a strong, central government by prevailing political regionalism. Later, George Washington's beliefs and attitudes of a strong, central union were instrumental in changing the "localism mind set" of citizens to have them adopt the new Federal Constitution.

In the two years interim between the victory at Yorktown in 1781 and the British evacuation of New York City in late November 1783, General Washington established his military headquarters at Newburgh, New York. The troops constructed a 20 ft. by 60 ft. building called the "Temple of Virtue" for the combined purposes of holding religious services and acting as a lodge for the Masons. It was in this temple on March 15, 1783 when George Washington, through his impassioned speech to the officers about their shared vision, saved America from the tyranny of a military dictatorship. Some officers had suffered without pay and allowances for up to six years and were incensed to the point of mutiny by the report that Congress was going to disband the army without pay. The fact that Washington was a Mason, most of his officers were Masons, and that they were assembled in the Temple of Virtue, no doubt, influenced them in overwhelmingly rejecting the mutinous plan to march on Congress and take over control of the civilian government in a coup d'etat.

And George Washington, as noted previously, in order to establish a strong, central government, was instrumental in calling for a Constitutional Convention. Of the 55 delegates to the Convention, 33 were Masons. Presiding as President, Washington took his responsibility so seriously that he never missed a single minute of the sessions. The delegates often looked at him for his nod of approval or frown of disapproval as they debated issues. No doubt, Masonic brotherhood within the ranks smoothed the path for compromise and agreement.

George Washington's character and presence commanded the respect and confidence of both Americans and foreigners. Sol Bloom, in his Masons and the Constitution, stated that Washington had, "imbibed the wisdom, strength and beauty of Masonry. It exerted a profound influence upon his career, from the time he was raised a Master Mason in 1753, through all the vicissitudes of war, peace, and nation building. In him the sublime truth of the order found practical expression in shaping the character of the United States of America."

President William McKinley, a Brother Mason, said about Washington's accomplishments on the centennial anniversary of his death in 1899, "The nation is his best eulogist and his noblest monument." William Duke, Grand Master of Virginia said about Washington in the same year, "If we catch the inspiration of his great life, the dignity of his manhood, and the simplicity of his character, we can come to learn how man can achieve greatness without sacrificing himself to ambition."

If Washington could be asked today, he would probably say that his greatest memorial would be in the lives of those citizens who sought to emulate in their daily lives those principles that guided his own life. I believe he would be most proud of us if we learned to keep bitterness out of our society and spread brotherhood and tolerance.

James Parrish Hodges, a.k.a. George Washington, delights audiences with his colorful portrayal, teaching Washington's leadership principles to enhance personal and professional goals. A student of American history for over 40 years, he has written numerous articles and given speeches on historical leaders. He is a financial planner residing in Texas.
